Codes used in Column A

Codes	Sample Species
a = Abundant	Palm Tanager
c = Common	Slaty-tailed Trogon
u = Uncommon	Ocellated Antbird
r = Rare	Rufous-vented Ground-Cuckoo
vr = Very rare	Sapayoa
x = Accidental	Reddish Egret
m = Migrant	Eastern Kingbird

Please note that some species are more easily heard than seen, and the status of each species as noted in this checklist may be based on records by sound as well as by sight.

Species marked with an (E) are endemic to Panama.

The information in this checklist is based largely upon observations from local and international guides over the past twenty years. If you would like more information regarding species status in Panama, we recommend the Annotated Checklist of the Birds of Panama by George R. Angehr (Panama Audubon Society, 2006).

Acknowledgments

Anybody who has compiled, or attempted to compile, a bird list knows very well that it is an arduous task requiring perseverance, attention to detail and deep knowledge of the subject. Carlos Bethancourt, the Canopy Family's senior naturalist, has all of these attributes and has employed them to produce one of the finest bird lists I have ever seen in all my years of birding. It shows not only the presence of a particular species but also its relative abundance at the Canopy Family's birding sites, and it contains excellent maps of these birding sites and their locations within Panama.

Of course, Carlos did not accomplish all of this alone. He relied on the enthusiastic support and extraordinary field experience of the rest of our staff of professional bird guides, namely Igua Jiménez, Jorge Pineda, Danilo Rodríguez, Danilo Rodríguez, Jr., Eliecer Rodríguez, Moyo Rodríguez, Alex Sánchez, and Tino Sánchez.

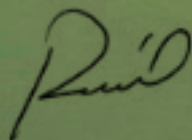

We also want to recognize Marshall Iliff, previously a VENT leader and now with the Cornell Lab of Ornithology, for many ideas about what constitutes a great bird list; our dear friend the late Ken Allaire for his expert input over the years; and Jonathan Slifkin and Jerry and Linda Harrison for their indispensable editing work.

Kelvin Cedeño, our graphic designer, survived several late nights dealing with countless changes to this list. Tino Sánchez painted the Tody Motmot that adorns the welcome letter to this booklet. As you can see, Tino is an accomplished artist as well as a world-class bird guide. Many thanks to Rafael Lau for his incredible photographs featured in this checklist, and for being part of the Canopy Family.

Finally, any mistakes in this checklist are our responsibility; however, all the joys and rewards of using it are yours!

Happy birding!

Mil gracias a todos!
